

Bullet Proof (Luckily, I Can See Clearly...)

- Clearly, there's nothing wrong with murder because the police get away with it all the time.
- Clearly, if the police are doing it, they must have a good reason.
- Clearly, if you're driving your own car, standing outside or around your own home, or are just in the "wrong" neighborhood, you must've asked for it.
- Clearly, if you're alone, you leave them no choice.
- Clearly, your license, registration, and proof of insurance, are just a front.
- Clearly, the police understand this and may opt not to bother asking you for them.
- Clearly, nothing beats what they learned in the academy except on-the-job training, where they've learned not to read you your rights (if you're of color, female, or poor).
- Clearly, if you want to face these accusers, you can be choked or shot just as easily from the front, though they prefer to do that from behind, when you're unarmed. It's easier.
- Clearly, if you're running from the police, you must be guilty of not wanting that beating badly enough.
- Clearly, they'd break a sweat chasing anyone. Better to shoot first and let the internal investigators rubber stamp it (justifiable homicide).
- Clearly, your innocence or sin, your age, gender, or occupation, your $, citizenship status, loved ones-n-friends, and certainly your skin will not save you.
- Clearly, they don't mind facing the d.a. because he or she owes them for their favor of collecting all the "evidence".
- Clearly, the cops understand the institution of the criminal just-us system and expect the d.a.'s and judges to act a-courtingly, which they typically DO.
- Clearly, over 2,000 "customers" dead since the last decade, alone, can't be wrong. Please pardon us, since we have no way of retrieving their testimonials.
- Clearly, these felons' jobs are as secure as a supreme court justice's, with not even half the necessary schooling.
- Clearly, the media will want to report this.
- Clearly, being "tough on crime" pays.
- Clearly, resistance is futile because big brother says so.
- Clearly, people do live through this. ("Accidents" happen.)

Any questions?
